Resumes

General Tips

- Key areas
 - Education - Test Scores, Awards/Honors, Relevant Coursework, Study Abroad
 - Professional Experience - Internships, jobs, cancelled opportunities, engagements etc
 - 1-2 other major sections - Leadership experience, service activities, research experience, co-curricular activities, extra curricular achievements
 - Skills or certifications - Things you are actually good at and/or used can be technical or soft skills
 - Interests - Interesting things you can talk about that aren't just school

Tips Cont.

- Reverse chronological order
- ONE PAGE ONLY
- Easy on the eyes -- simple design
- Highlight the most important things, cut out what is no longer relevant due to the passage of time or overlap of more recent/impactful experiences
- Formatting consistency
- Double check that tenses are correct throughout the doc

Bullet Points

- Tailor bullets to the position you're applying for. For consulting these can be:
 - Problem solving/critical thinking
 - Personal impact
 - Entrepreneurial drive
 - Taking initiative to make improvements or make a difference
 - Leadership/management abilities
 - Client relations
 - Teamwork
- You should be able to find these transferable skills, even in less related positions or industries
- If you have the choice, try to select experiences that will make you memorable

Bullet Points Cont.

- One sentence summary of your role, above your bullet points (optional)
- Bullet points below are for specific deliverables or accomplishments, with quantified* impact and emphasizing the difference you made
 - Be very intentional about demonstrating 1-2 of the qualities listed above in each bullet point
 - Use action verbs
 - Utilized previous experience with municipalities to analyze 70 potential customers for the client
- Be consistent

Consulting Specific-Highlights & Bonus Tips

Education Section

- Test score: include if it is strong, or if the firm requires it (you may ask)

Professional Section

- If you had a position cancelled for a legitimate reason (e.g. COVID), you are free to include it

Leadership/Service

- Leadership: highlight how you personally and impactfully contributed to the organization, only put experiences you can speak to

Skills & Interests

Skills

- Ones you can demonstrate (e.g. if Excel was a core part of our job during a reputable internship, rather than just MGSC 290)
- Don't just have to be technical (e.g. project management), as long as you can reference a specific experience that categorically demonstrates that skill
- Can include languages (with level of proficiency) in this section

Interests

Goals: 1. They remember you. 2. You can pass yourself as easy to talk to. 3. You can kill 5-10 minutes of an interview on an enjoyable, low-stress topic.

- Genuine and personal interests that you can talk about for a while
- At least a couple should be outside of an academic or business context
- Avoid interests that risk you being unfairly judged by the closed-minded.
- Don't be afraid to be unique or specific

I recommend the bottom section having an upcoming, activities, and interests. Only put skills if you have something beyond Microsoft Office and don't say something you don't know how to do!

Must list GPA and ACT or SAT for MBB (put highest sub scores)

Consistency is huge. Right full month or abbreviate each one. Rank either in order or in importance. Make sure margins are completely aligned

Must have education and professional experience and then choose the last you want to emphasize- I did leadership

Cover Letter Guide

The consultant reading your letter will try to answer 3 questions.

Can you write well?

Are you different?

Did you do your homework?

Salutation
Introduction

Salutation: Dear (name of recruiter for the office you're shooting for)

Introduction: "Thank you for considering me for the position of Business Analyst at McKinsey and Company's Charlotte office."

Cover Letter

Paragraph 1

WHY YOU?

- Can be consistent across cover letters
- Think: what are the most essential qualities, skills, characteristics about you that make you valuable to the firm?
- Chosen qualities will be more predictable (e.g. personal impact, entrepreneurial drive, inclusive leadership, and problem solving for McKinsey)
- Make sure the story effectively illustrates the chosen quality, but also avoid experiences that are overly commonplace
- Demonstrate 2-3 qualities using 1-2 key experiences

Cover Letter

Paragraph 2

WHY CONSULTING?

- Can be consistent across cover letters
- Think: “How do I know that consulting is what I want to do for my career?”
- Use relevant experiences, briefly explain the relevant part of what you did, and connect what you did do to what you are looking forward to in consulting.
- For example, what might have you enjoyed most about being an engineering intern? possibly project management or finding creative ways to analyze complex problems?
- Do this 2-3 times, then close by stating what you’re most excited to accomplish through consulting or how you are most excited to grow.

Cover Letter

Paragraph 3

WHY FIRM?

- Different for each cover letter
- Think: What qualities specifically set them apart from other firms? What excites you about working for this firm?
- You MUST reference specific people, reports, or projects when making these claims about what makes this firm different.
- For example, (networking contact) explained to you how the firm's unique values were applied in (this situation). Or you were impressed and excited to read about this initiative or this report and can't wait to contribute in this area yourself. Do this three times.

Cover Letter

Paragraph 4

CONCLUSION

- For these reasons, I am very eager to pursue a career at (_____).
- I am available for an interview and look forward to hearing from you.

September 15, 2019

Dear Kayla Vercande,

I would like to apply for an Associate Consultant position at Bain & Company.

I am on track to graduate Summa Cum Laude this May from the top Public Honors College and top International Business program in the United States at the University of South Carolina. I have spent two semesters studying at internationally recognized universities: the University of Queensland in Brisbane, Australia, and Pontificia Universidad Católica de Perú, in Lima, Peru. During these experiences, I quickly adapted to new environments, collaborated with diverse teams, and achieved fluency in Spanish. While in Peru, I studied multiple social enterprises for my thesis, which I will be defending this spring and is focused on the application of social enterprise principles to corporate social responsibility initiatives. I have also had diverse industry experience through three distinct internships and two consulting projects.

I developed the desire to work in consulting through my past experiences and from my current projects. My favorite aspect of my internships at Deer Valley Resort and Incoa Performance Minerals was managing projects, structuring and solving complex problems, and creating presentations to deliver key information. I also enjoy interacting with visitors and mentoring students as a University Ambassador and am eager to work hands-on with clients as a consultant. Due to my growing interest in consulting, I pursued two consulting engagements this semester, through which I have gotten a taste of client communication and large-scale impact. As a Bain consultant, I will strive to learn from top executives and constantly seek to be challenged across various sectors. As I progress in my career, I hope to advise corporate leaders on how to address the growing global concern of social and environmental sustainability.

Bain appeals to me for three reasons. First, I have learned through my conversations with various Bainies that Bain has a genuine culture of support and collaboration. Alex Pham described that the consultants in the office have created a community in which people are comfortable to be themselves and value professional and personal growth. Emily Fordice explained to me how she has seen the value of True North play out in her projects by being honest with clients even in difficult situations. I am also impressed with Bain's position as a leader in Private Equity. I have enjoyed reading Hugh MacArthur and other leaders' discussions of market trends impacting PE in the Global Private Equity Report. Lastly, Bain's commitment to invest $1 billion dollars in social impact projects and its commitment to sustainability and corporate responsibility stood out to me. In my career, I would like to be a part of growing Bain's social impact.

For these reasons, I am very eager to pursue a career at Bain. I am available for an interview at any time and look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Kristin Shipley

Networking

Networking

How do I find people to network?

- Professors!!!
- Alumni on LinkedIn
- LinkedIn, employees of where you want to work
- Ask older students in jobs/internships you want
 - Student networking is just as important, especially with consulting

Conducting an Informational Interview

Step by Step

Salutation and thank you

Each of you introduce yourself

Conduct the interview

Be respectful of their time

If the conversation was decent, you may ask for a referral to someone else

Thank you email within 24 hours

Best Practices

1. Do your research on the industry, firm, and individual beforehand.
2. Ask about what you care about, NOT about what you think they care about. Come prepared with an objective. What do you want to have learned?
3. Have 6-8 questions prepared as a last resort.
4. Listen.
5. Calm your nerves.

Networking

Success is in the details:

Life update!

The last 8 months have been full of excitement, adventure, and growth.

From January to June, I had the pleasure of taking an exchange semester in Madrid, Spain at IE University. My competence in global leadership, environmental adaptability, and the Spanish language grew exponentially. Not to mention, I got to travel to countless amazing places and make lifelong friends from all over the world!

Upon my return to the states, I began my journey at Deloitte. I had the opportunity to work with many talented individuals and gain priceless insight and experience. My engagement focused on a large scale, front to back office, tri-party software implementation, working with some of the largest wealth management and capital market firms in the world! Countless people contributed to my experience but I would like to specifically thank Lucy Britt Stadler, J. H. Caldwell, Zach Pettengill, Cody Devine, Eleanor Fina, the rest of my project team, and my amazing intern class in Charlotte for making this summer unforgettable!

With that being said, I am happy to announce that I have accepted a full-time role as a Risk & Financial Advisory Analyst in the New York City office, beginning in summer/fall 2023. I'm excited to continue in my professional growth and there is no place I would rather be than Deloitte.
