Valuation Research Corporation
Position of Portfolio Valuation Analyst
New York, NY

Dear Hiring Committee,

I am writing to apply for the Analyst, Portfolio Valuation position at Valuation Research Corporation. I am a senior at the Darla Moore School of Business majoring in Finance and Risk Management, with academic and internship experience centered on valuation, market analysis, and risk assessment.

I developed a strong analytical foundation through the Carolina Finance Scholars Program, a selective cohort of 32 students per class, where I completed project-based coursework focused on Excel-driven valuation, discounted cash flow modeling, financial statement analysis, and case-based decision making. These experiences emphasized translating market data and assumptions into clear, defensible valuation conclusions.

Professionally, I interned at BNP Paribas, where I spent most of my time on the Structured Notes team. My work involved analyzing market inputs, assessing payoff structures, and supporting the structuring and presentation of defined-volatility products. I also contributed to a macro-driven FX pitch tied to JPY/USD, reinforcing my ability to evaluate securities under uncertainty and communicate results clearly. Across these experiences, I consistently worked with complex instruments and time-sensitive analyses, which aligns closely with VRC's work valuing illiquid securities, structured products, and private investments.

I am particularly drawn to VRC's focus on rigorous valuation methodologies, exposure to a wide range of asset classes, and collaborative team-based environment. I am highly motivated to continue developing my valuation skill set while contributing strong analytical rigor, attention to detail, and clear written communication.

Thank you for your time and consideration. I would welcome the opportunity to further discuss my application.

Sincerely,
Leo Goldberg
