Fitch Ratings
Associate Analyst Program – New York

Dear Hiring Committee,

I am applying to the Associate Analyst Program at Fitch Ratings. I am a senior at the Darla Moore School of Business, majoring in Finance and Risk Management, and I grew up on Long Island and currently live in Queens. My academic and professional experience has focused on understanding risk, evaluating downside scenarios, and communicating clear conclusions in fast-paced analytical environments.

I strengthened my analytical foundation through the Carolina Finance Scholars Program, a highly selective cohort of 32 students per class, where I completed dedicated, project-based finance sections focused on Excel-driven valuation, cash flow analysis, and case-based decision making. That experience carried directly into my internship at BNP Paribas, where I spent most of my time on the Structured Notes team working on the structuring and presentation of a defined-volatility product and later contributed to a macro-driven FX pitch tied to JPY/USD. Across both roles, my work centered on synthesizing market inputs, assessing risk trade-offs, and presenting clear takeaways to senior teams. These experiences sharpened my ability to evaluate risk under uncertainty and communicate defensible conclusions, which aligns closely with the work of a Fitch analyst.

I perform best in environments that value intellectual curiosity, clarity, and accountability. Fitch's emphasis on rigorous analysis and collaborative decision-making is exactly the kind of setting where I am motivated to contribute and continue developing as an analyst.

Thank you for your time and consideration. I would welcome the opportunity to discuss my application further.

Sincerely,
Leo Goldberg
