

LEO GOLDBERG

69-39 Yellowstone Blvd, Forest Hills, New York 11375

Leog@email.sc.edu | (516) 554-1256 | www.linkedin.com/in/leo-goldberg-usc

Dear Citi,

Thank you for considering me for the 2025 Summer Analyst Position within the Capital Markets Origination Division at the New York Office.

My name is Leo Goldberg. I'm from Queens, New York and I am a sophomore at the University of South Carolina Darla Moore School of Business with a 3.9 GPA. I am pursuing a double major in Finance and Risk Management with a Sustainability in Business concentration. I chose the Darla Moore School of Business for the incredible opportunities offered by both students and faculty.

To this end, I joined the Carolina Fund Club during my freshman year and have since been promoted to the Group Head for the Real Estate sector. In the Carolina Fund Club, teams compete by submitting long or short strategies that include a combination of qualitative and quantitative characteristics to support them. As the Real Estate Group Head in the Carolina Fund Club, I've led a team that researches a firm's qualitative idiosyncratic and macroeconomic conditions to create assumptions required for quantitative financial models such as Discounted Cash Flow Models or Comparable Companies Analyses. My involvement in extracurricular activities has vastly increased my proficiency with Microsoft PowerPoint and Excel. My continuous involvement in challenging group projects has taught me how to be a team player who values others' inputs while simultaneously contributing my own. Staying updated with the effects of varying economic conditions on both fixed income and equity securities was a necessary requisite to create in-depth and accurate financial strategies in Carolina Fund. Upon learning that this skillset was equally crucial to succeeding in a Sales & Trading role, my passion to enter a career in Sales & Trading was ignited. I look forward to the opportunity to continue to learn more about financial markets and further improve my ability to capitalize on arbitrage opportunities in the market.

Whether it be in Carolina Fund, or in any other endeavor, I constantly challenge myself to continue to improve my technical knowledge and social ability to integrate into new organizations with the goal of positively contributing to them. My willingness to learn and my ability to work well with others have always been valuable assets of mine. Regardless of the team or project, my ultimate objective is to always be an approachable teammate that helps add quality to all the work at hand.

I've had the privilege of learning about the Citi culture after speaking with multiple employees within the Capital Markets Origination team in the New York office. In one conversation that stands out, I spoke with a team member who has worked at the firm for 8 years, and in that time has undergone multiple career transitions internally. She emphasized her gratitude to her peers that made it possible for her to enter each new field, and without whom, she would not be where she is today. It is this cultural environment that I seek to grow within and why if awarded an internship opportunity with Citi I genuinely know I will be a part of a team that fosters personal and professional development.

Sincerely,

Leo Goldberg